

2022 Environmental, Social Responsibility and Governance Report

From Our President and CEO

Our founders knew the importance of community. Their community commitment stirred them to forge foundations for a bank built to create opportunities for communities and the people who call those places home. More than 123 years later, community—a shared understanding of who we are, where we come from, and where we can go together—still stands central to our company's culture.

Our founders also envisioned and expected that we, as their successors, would consider community development an indispensable priority in planning and implementing strategies for the company's growth. Just as the astute business and community leaders who started our institution sought to help their communities succeed, we readily embrace our obligation to remain a sound, engaged, and trustworthy financial and community partner. Caring about our communities inspires us to invest in and champion the economic vitality and quality of life that can empower our communities to thrive.

Reinforced by core values at the heart of our company, our sense of community drives a staunch commitment to guard and grow the good things that keep our communities strong. Today, approximately 3,600 associates across the Southeast help create community opportunities through service to their clients and to the cities and towns where associates live and work. With our founding ideals as the collective beacon guiding how we do business, associates help us protect our environment, promote opportunities for diverse populations, and preserve transparent corporate governance and accountability.

This report includes highlights and results of many of our efforts this past year to uphold our commitment as a conscientious corporate citizen in the communities we serve.

We believe community commitment nurtures confidence in our company across our footprint and among our clients. With and because of our communities and clients, we have grown as a business that never knows completion, a company dedicated to a fundamental founding promise to do the right thing. We thank our communities and clients for the trust that helps us increase our community stewardship and for the privilege of coming together to create opportunities for all people in our communities.

With gratitude,

John M. Hairston
President and CEO

Environmental Responsibility

Investing in Green

We support energy-efficient projects and investments. In 2022, we purchased $34 million in green investments—mortgage-backed securities that contain green-certified properties—bringing our total amount of green investments to $580 million.

A Green Business Certification designates the level of environmental friendliness for a specific property.

Energy Management

We embrace our responsibility to be a good steward of our natural resources and have implemented a continuous improvement approach to energy management.

In 2014, we established a system for analyzing energy usage in our real estate portfolio, resulting in a 6% annual reduction in total energy usage in 2022 compared to 2021.

During the last eight years, we standardized our energy-efficient guidelines for HVAC and lighting systems, installed smart HVAC thermostats, established a centralized energy management system and launched an ongoing office and site lighting conversion to LED technology.

To reduce our communities' carbon footprint we have been working with our local utility providers to provide space for installation of electric vehicle charging stations. Construction on our first site started this year with more to follow in 2023.

Building and Construction Maintenance

Our construction department continues to do our part to minimize the environmental impact of building materials and reduce construction waste. We are building more spaces with a sustainable wall system, which cuts down on the amount of waste going into landfills. Our interior products, including but not limited to ceiling tiles, plumbing, lighting, walls, window treatment, paint and flooring, are all tested and meet the latest environmental requirements in their industries.

Furniture, Fixtures and Equipment

DIRTT MANUFACTURED CONSTRUCTION

Manufactured Construction is the most sustainable building method, providing benefits such as reducing to almost eliminating waste, reducing man-hours and travel to site and using recycled and recyclable materials. Reusing materials also eliminates the energy required to build new components and reduces landfill waste.

2022 Impacts of Using DIRTT Manufactured Construction:

- 4,767 lbs. of drywall waste prevented from entering a landfill
- 47 lbs. of paint-based volatile organic compounds (VOCs) and 8 lbs. of drywall mud tape-based VOCs prevented from off-gassing
- 48% recycled content in wall solution
- 84% recycled content in millwork solution
- 372 recycled pairs of denim jeans in wall insulation

2022 Impact of Redeployment of Existing Furniture:

- 1,500 lbs. of waste prevented from entering a landfill

Waste Reduction:

- Through our enterprise-wide shredding and recycling initiative to support waste reduction, our associates recycled over 1.5 million pounds of paper in 2022.

Shredding and Recycling Impacts:

- 293,400 gallons of oil saved
- 13,196 trees saved
- 3,088,420 kilowatts of energy saved
- 2,316 cubic yards of landfill space saved
- 5,404,735 gallons of water saved

Environmental Projects and Partnerships

From reforestation investments in the late 1800s that replenished timberlands critical to the Gulf Coast economy to modern conservation programs, the Hancock Whitney organization has remained an avid, active advocate and supporter for preserving and protecting the region's natural resources and strengthening environmental sustainability.

Downtown Green Space

Hancock Whitney Lighthouse Park at Hancock Whitney Plaza, the company's corporate headquarters complex in downtown Gulfport, Mississippi, features one of the largest downtown corporate greenspaces in the state. The park, which includes numerous design elements acknowledging Gulf Coast resilience in the wake of Hurricane Katrina, provides the community a 56,000-square-foot open commons centered in an urban business district.

Perseverance Oaks

After Hurricane Katrina in 2005, Hancock Whitney launched the inaugural Perseverance Oaks program with founding partners Mississippi State University and The Sun Herald newspaper as well as other participating community partners such as the Land Trust for the Mississippi Coastal Plain.

The ongoing, multifaceted Perseverance Oaks project has helped replenish landscapes scarred by major storms with offspring of landmark live oaks and other live oaks. In the past 15 years, Perseverance Oaks has planted more than 1,000 live oaks in Gulf Coast communities, helping to preserve the environment while propagating a cherished icon of regional heritage, the magnificent live oak.

COMPONENTS OF PERSEVERANCE OAKS

- Reforestation and Conservation – Through the program, the company and communities it serves replant diminished or destroyed live oak populations and promote conservation of natural resources.
- Greenspace – Perseverance Oaks plantings help enhance greenspace for environmental and community benefits, including neighborhoods, schools, and parks in low- to moderate-income areas.
- Air Quality – Trees planted through Perseverance Oaks help combat the buildup of excess carbon dioxide caused by climate change.
- Education – As part of Perseverance Oaks, Hancock Whitney associates join environmental experts to teach students important financial concepts using nature analogies, impart community history and traditions tied to landmark live oaks and demonstrate environmental sustainability principles through hands-on science lessons.

A 17-year-young magnolia tree sits in Hancock Whitney Plaza Lighthouse Park in front of Hancock Whitney Plaza, company headquarters. The magnolia tree was planted as a magnolia seedling from a local nursery to help replenish trees lost along the Mississippi Gulf Coast due to Hurricane Katrina. This tree showcases the company's dedication to our long-term efforts to protect and preserve the landscapes in the communities we serve.

Land Trust for the Mississippi Coastal Plain

The company has maintained a strong relationship with the Land Trust for the Mississippi Coastal Plain. An initial Perseverance Oaks partner, the Land Trust is a member-supported nonprofit that conserves, promotes, and protects open spaces and green spaces of ecological, cultural, or scenic significance in the counties of the Mississippi Coastal Plain.

Hancock Whitney supports the Land Trust's general mission and adopted into Perseverance Oaks the namesake trees at Twelve Oaks, a 30-acre Land Trust nature preserve in South Mississippi featuring a stunning canopy of centuries-old live oaks, native plants, walking trails, marshes and a bird observatory along the Fort Bayou waterway. Purchased after the Civil War by a formerly enslaved person from the widow of the original owner, the Twelve Oaks property is home to an artist-in-residence cottage built around part of what local historians believe was once an African-American church on the site.

Other Sponsorships & Partnerships

The company regularly sponsors, contributes to, and provides volunteer leadership for countless organizations and events across the greater Gulf Coast corridor committed to environmental sustainability, conservation, research, and education initiatives that help safeguard blueways, greenways, wildlife, and habitats critical to local ecosystems and community quality of life.

Those local sponsorships and partnerships include, but are not limited to, the following organizations:

Social Responsibility

If there's one thing that sets Hancock Whitney apart, it's that we don't just serve clients; we serve communities and all those who live in them. Year in and year out, generation after generation, we never stop standing up for the people and places that depend on us. It's a spirit reflected in our Commitment to Service, one of the core values that guide how we work and live. Through volunteerism, philanthropy and a responsible approach to financial education, our team gives back, helping communities grow into more vibrant places to live and work.

Corporate Giving

Each year, we provide financial support to important services and innovative programs that reflect our mission, purpose and core values with the greatest overall community impact, focusing on financial education, economic growth and workforce development, affordable housing, community revitalization, health and human services, cultural enrichment, environmental conservation and public services that address critical issues in our markets. Additionally, through local, state and regional sponsorships, we support and partner with community activities and organizations that complement our purpose and our commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion.

- ▶ In 2022, we invested more than $6.5 million in philanthropic donations and community sponsorships to empower local communities.
- ▶ More than $2.6 million of this total supported Community Reinvestment Act (CRA) activities.

2022 Opportunity Grants

For the fifth consecutive year, Hancock Whitney awarded competitive grants through its CRA program to help organizations promoting access to homeownership, affordable housing development and housing rehabilitation to underserved communities. Twenty-one nonprofit organizations received Hancock Whitney Opportunity Grant awards in 2022.

Associate Volunteerism

Giving back and paying it forward are important ideals we hold dear—principles central to our company for more than 120 years. We believe in volunteering our time, talent, energy and enthusiasm to make a difference in the communities where we work and live.

Community Connection, our associate volunteer program, offers associates one paid day each year to volunteer in their communities. At work and when they volunteer, associates help people achieve their goals and dreams.

Hancock Whitney supports organizations advancing homeownership, including West 30's Redemption, a Covington, Louisiana nonprofit that is currently building new homes and renovating established homes throughout the West 30s community, completing 41 homes in the last five years.

- ▶ 4,300+ volunteer hours
- ▶ 530+ organizations served
- ▶ 300+ nonprofit board positions held by associates

Hancock Whitney associates in Tallahassee volunteered with Hunger Fight to pack over 105,000 meals to feed Title One elementary school children in their community.

Associates from our Picayune, Mississippi financial center taught local elementary school students about banking, money, and savings to provide a jumpstart on their financial education.

Financial Education

Since our founding, we have been on a quest to help people achieve their financial dreams, and we know our products and services are only part of the equation. A strong understanding of financial basics, money and credit management not only improves individuals' financial health, but can also be the difference in achieving or falling short of financial goals.

We use the term “financial education” rather than “financial literacy” because we believe in building on the knowledge—the “literacy”—people and communities may already have, as well as respecting their interest in wanting to improve upon what they know.

In 2022, Hancock Whitney associates participated in more than 1,150 financial education activities, sharing their financial expertise with more than 160 organizations and thousands of individuals. Eighty-two percent of these financial education activities qualified as Community Reinvestment Act (CRA) services, reaching low- to moderate-income individuals.

Hancock Whitney Financial Cents

Hancock Whitney Financial Cents, our comprehensive online and in-person financial education program for young people and adults, supports our lifelong learning philosophy of financial education: providing people the right information at the right times in their lives to nurture their financial success.

Hancock Whitney Financial Cents for Students includes online modules available to complement in-class instruction at no cost to schools or taxpayers. Similarly, Hancock Whitney Financial Cents for Adults is accessible through our website and offers online playlists featuring important financial lessons. In 2022, visitors to Hancock Whitney Financial Cents for adults engaged in more than 3,600 online financial education lessons.

Hancock Whitney Financial Education Month and Founders Month

While financial education is important to us every day, we spotlight the value of good financial management skills through highly focused spring and fall financial education initiatives that help people learn good money habits for life.

During National Financial Literacy Month in April, we encourage associates to share their financial know-how with local schools and organizations through special events and presentations. During the 30-day period, associates volunteered for 166 financial education activities supporting 25 different organizations benefitting more than 4,700 people.

Each October, we celebrate Hancock Whitney Founders Month, highlighting our focus on financial education for all ages and reminding associates to share their expertise with community groups to help young and old alike learn the value of good financial habits at every stage of life.

Banking by Building: Strong Communities. Strong Futures.

In 2022, Hancock Whitney launched a new initiative bringing together community stakeholders and residents to build stronger communities. With a belief that kids can be the catalyst for continued community growth and success, Hancock Whitney partnered with the City of Tampa and Kaboom!—the national nonprofit working to end playspace inequity—to build a new playground in Tampa where children can learn and play. The multi-month project began with a community design day where local children designed their dream playground and residents shared their goals for the playspace. Hancock Whitney associates also led a financial education lesson challenging children to build a playground while staying within a budget. The financial education theme was built into the playground design with math and literacy elements that introduce basic financial concepts to prompt kid questions and family conversations.

In October 2022, more than 150 Hancock Whitney associates and community partners transformed the dilapidated park into a safe, innovative new playspace for local children. The new park space will also serve as a convening spot for the community to engage in ongoing financial education sessions with Hancock Whitney and local nonprofits Solita's House, Habitat for Humanity Hillsborough, and Housing & Education Alliance.

Reinvesting in Our Communities

Our company embraces the vision of the Community Reinvestment Act and we take our responsibility to CRA seriously. We aim to guide all of our clients—including low- and moderate-income individuals—on their journey to reach their financial goals by providing comprehensive banking solutions. We are equally committed to strengthening the economic health of the communities that depend on us.

Community Development & Affordable Housing

We look to promote public well-being by taking a proactive role in making loans and investments in affordable housing, community services, neighborhood revitalization and stabilization and economic development within the communities where we live and work.

In 2022, we committed $527 million in CRA-qualified community development lending and $226 million in CRA-qualified community development investments.

Community Development Loan Program

We extend short-term loans and lines of credit for acquisition, development or rehabilitation of single- or multi-family housing. A specialized Community Development Loan program is designed to assist nonprofit and for-profit entities providing housing opportunities for low- and moderate-income families through the development of single- or multi-family real estate.

Small Business

We've always made it our mission to help our clients and their businesses succeed. Regardless of whether a business is well established, expanding rapidly, or just starting out, we aim to build trust, provide convenient banking solutions and support our unique communities. In 2022, we provided 5,568 small business loans totaling $609 million to help drive economic growth and job creation across the Gulf South.

Beyond funding, Hancock Whitney makes it a priority to help ensure small businesses have the resources needed to grow and succeed. Hancock Whitney Small Business Matters, a comprehensive, companywide entrepreneurship and small business outreach program, aims to educate and create opportunities, with an emphasis on minority and women owned businesses. Concentrating on four entrepreneurial and small business success goals (Grow, Fund, Market and Manage), the program also helps deliver access to financial opportunity core to Hancock Whitney's commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion.

Affordable Housing

We understand that access to safe and affordable housing is the foundation of an individual's or a family's well-being and a factor in establishing vibrant communities. We are strongly committed to offering and supporting mortgage assistance programs to help make our clients' home ownership dreams a reality.

Hancock Whitney participates in various bond loan programs. A mortgage revenue bond loan or "bond loan" is a type of mortgage loan where the cost of borrowing is partially subsidized by a mortgage revenue bond. State and local governments sponsor these programs that offer low-interest loans and sometimes closing cost assistance tailored to meet the needs of low- and moderate-income families. In 2022, Hancock Whitney originated approximately $5.4 million in affordable housing state and local bond loans.

Affordable Housing and Economic Development Grant Initiatives

Through a partnership with the Federal Home Loan Bank (FHLB) of Dallas, we participate in several of their Community Investment programs that support housing and economic growth activities. FHLB grants include down payment and closing cost assistance for first time homebuyers, renovation grants for elderly homeowners and qualified economic development projects and community revitalization in targeted communities.

In 2022, Hancock Whitney facilitated $226,036 in FHLB grants. Since 2000, the bank has facilitated more than $12.2 million in grants for nonprofit organizations serving low- and moderate- income communities.

The Homebuyer Equity Leverage Program (HELP) provides grant assistance directly to participating Hancock Whitney mortgage loan recipients. HELP works in conjunction with other mortgage assistance programs to help potential homebuyers qualify for a home. In 2022, through HELP, Hancock Whitney assisted 6 homebuyers and provided $58,800 in down payment assistance.

Partnering to revitalize neighborhoods one home at a time.

Opportunity Loan Program

Aligned with the company's commitment to homeownership, we offer a robust mix of mortgage portfolio products. These in-house products offer the bank the opportunity to expand access to credit for underserved and diverse communities. Specifically, our products offer low cost, affordable, fixed rate mortgages across the bank's footprint, especially in low-to-moderate income and minority communities.

In 2022, Hancock Whitney's Opportunity Loan program provided $184 million in mortgage lending for 609 households.

Plan Your Way Home

Our Plan Your Way Home (PYWH) program helps potential first-time homebuyers and existing homeowners with low- to moderate-incomes through the mortgage loan process. To ensure we meet the credit needs of underserved borrowers, we created our own suite of mortgage assistance products. We also offer additional programs available through federal, state and local agencies to help facilitate homeownership opportunities in the communities we serve.

In 2022, Hancock Whitney's Plan Your Way Home program provided $10 million in mortgage financing for 59 homeowners. As part of the Hancock Whitney Plan Your Way Home program, the bank's Community Lending Team participated in more than 50 homebuyer education workshops, webinars and training sessions throughout 2022.

Hancock Whitney Community Development Advisory Council

We established the Hancock Whitney Community Development Advisory Council in 2017 as a way to make a more significant impact in the communities across our footprint. The council is composed of leaders who make a difference in housing, economic development, small business development and other arenas critical to community success. These highly regarded and accomplished community advocates provide our company with strategic insights and advice on how Hancock Whitney management and officers can better serve our communities.

Our Associates and Corporate Culture

Our employees, whom we refer to as associates, are our most valuable asset. Associates are the collective face, voice and spirit of our organization. To the people and communities we serve, our associates are Hancock Whitney. Our century-old culture and core values are the consistent beacon that guides how our associates carry on our legacy with honor, integrity and service. Additionally, the policies and practices we define for associates further reinforce the founding principles fundamental to who we are and how we do business. The diversity of our associates makes us a stronger and more resilient company, one that fosters a culture of inclusion and belonging and one that supports our associates, clients, communities and shareholders in achieving their goals and dreams.

We promise our associates an inclusive environment where they can grow, they have a voice, and they are important. We are committed to providing an associate experience and total rewards package that attracts, develops and retains top-quality talent. We continually review and develop strategies that support the needs of our associates while balancing business needs. In 2022, the Company's human capital strategy continued to focus on evolving to meet the ever-changing needs of our associates, responding to a challenging labor market with increased competition for talent and labor shortages, and supporting various initiatives to improve operations and overall efficiency while maintaining our commitment to our clients, communities and shareholders.

Our associates are proud to serve their communities.

Diversity, Equity and Inclusion

Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (DEI) are fundamental to our purpose and essential to executing our mission. We pledge exceptional service to our clients and communities and believe our commitment to DEI further strengthens our ability to meet the needs of our associates, communities, clients and shareholders. Different perspectives, backgrounds, and experiences produce stronger teams and collaborative innovation resulting in improved overall organizational performance. This wider range of influence and diverse thought allows us to better serve the people and communities depending on us.

Our commitment to DEI starts at the top of our organization, supported through oversight by the Compensation Committee of the Hancock Whitney Corporation Board of Directors. Underscoring our ongoing commitment to championing a culture of inclusion and belonging, the Company established a DEI Council sponsored by the President and CEO in 2018, which consists of associates from a variety of locations, business segments, genders, races, ethnicities, tenures and experiences who work together as thought leaders to promote and foster an inclusive workplace culture that appreciates differences and values all perspectives. Additionally, the Company named a Director of DEI in 2020 to serve as a champion and dedicated resource to lead the organization's DEI efforts. The Director of DEI and the Chief Human Resources Officer serve as chair and co-chair, respectively, of the DEI Council and partner with Company leaders on strategies to foster a diverse and inclusive workplace that attracts, develops and retains top talent, regardless of race, color, religious beliefs, national origin, ancestry, citizenship, sex, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity, marital status, age, disability, genetic information, protected veteran status or any other dimension of diversity. We monitor and track the progress of our efforts and regularly implement programs and practices to support a diverse and inclusive workplace.

Linda McCullough, and associate Tiffany Temple.

Continuing on our efforts to build and attract a diverse workforce in 2022, we continued to cultivate new relationships, strengthened existing partnerships, and enhanced diverse recruiting efforts with key organizations. We were intentional with our campus recruiting, internship, and programming efforts across the footprint to expand our diverse talent pool. We continued efforts at Historically Black Colleges and Universities through the funding of scholarships and programs to support Black students. We revitalized the corporate internship program providing an inclusive experience that uniquely incorporates mentorship, financial literacy, community connection, and diversity learning opportunities across the organization and footprint. We proudly hosted the 2022 class of interns consisting of 56% females and 56% people of color, expanding our diverse pool of future talent and campus advocates. Additionally, we partnered with diverse external professional organizations such as Hispanic Chamber of Commerce, Gulf Coast Equality Council, and Families Helping Families and leveraged our associates for candidate referrals to expand our candidate pipeline. In 2022, approximately 74% of our new hires self-identified as female and approximately 45% of new hires self-identified as people of color.

Further supporting, developing, and celebrating the existing workforce, associates are provided diversity education, experiences and resources to help inspire behaviors that contribute to an inclusive, high-performing culture in which all associates may thrive. In 2022, the Company enhanced its diversity-learning opportunities with new platforms designed to listen and learn directly from the voices and experiences of our associates, including Living Room Conversations, Cultural Tasting Series, Understanding Cultural Bias Training, and Associate Spotlights featuring New Associates, Women of Excellence, Random Acts of Kindness, and Living Our Core Values to help drive inclusive behaviors and inspire a growth mindset. Additionally, we continued our focus on associate volunteer activities tied to strengthening DEI throughout our footprint.

Total Rewards

We strive to provide a comprehensive total rewards package that meets the various needs of our associates, including market-competitive pay and robust benefit options that attract and retain top talent. To ensure our total rewards programs remain competitive, we engage in nationally recognized third-party compensation and benefits surveys and utilize the expertise of an independent executive compensation firm and an outside benefits broker and benefits consulting firms to objectively evaluate our compensation and benefits packages and benchmark them against industry peers and similarly situated organizations on an annual basis.

Our compensation philosophy is a performance-based strategy that aligns our programs with our business goals and objectives. Base salaries are established considering competitive market rates for specific roles as well as the experience and performance levels of our associates. In January 2022, we increased our minimum base pay for entry positions to $15.50 per hour and continue to monitor and assess the competitiveness of our base pay through benchmarking of our base salaries to those of our peers. The Company rewards associates for individual performance through merit-based compensation increases and provides additional opportunities for financial advancement through promotions and various incentive opportunities.

We promote a pay-for-performance philosophy and motivate a majority of our associate population with incentive compensation designed to drive strategies, behaviors and business goals while effectively balancing risk and reward. We also use long-term incentive compensation to attract and retain top talent while keeping associates focused on long-term company performance, significant milestone achievements and creation of shareholder value.

We recognize the well-being of our associates is critical to the success of the organization. We offer a competitive and comprehensive benefits program to support associates throughout all life stages. Our benefits include comprehensive health, dental, life and disability coverage that are funded in whole or in part by the Company as well as a 401(k) plan featuring a company match of a dollar-for-dollar on the first 1% and 50 cents on the dollar on the next 5% of associate contributions, and a fixed employer contribution of 2% of pay for associates who do not participate in our grandfathered pension program. We also provide our associates with programs and tools to support their overall well-being, including paid time off, personal health advocate, employee assistance, behavioral assistance and tuition reimbursement programs, as well as a range of resources to support the well-being of our associates and their families throughout the full spectrum of their lives and career journeys.

Of the approximately 1,437 requisitions filled in 2022, 40% were filled by internal associates. Approximately 14% of our workforce received a promotion in 2022, consisting of 77% females and 33% people of color.

Recognizing the development of our associates is critical to our success, we invest in resources to ensure associates have access to the tools needed to do their jobs effectively and succeed within the organization, including technical, skills-based, management and leadership programs, as well as formal talent, performance management and succession planning processes. Through customized learning plans, associates are provided targeted resources to ensure they gain the knowledge and skills needed to successfully perform their duties in accordance with the Company's practices. Associates also have access to a full suite of optional classes and self-directed resources to personalize career development and prioritize their unique needs and growth opportunities. Additionally, we support the use of external resources such as professional conferences, specialized seminars, banking schools and other development and leadership programs to supplement associates' professional development and provides a tuition assistance program for those seeking to deepen their education at undergraduate and graduate levels.

Health, Safety & Well-Being

At Hancock Whitney, supporting the overall health, safety, and well-being of our associates are top priorities for us and some of the most valuable investments we make as a company. We are committed to providing robust, competitive benefits and programs that support associates in all aspects and stages of life. We continually explore opportunities for new or enhanced benefits and other programs to better support the overall well-being of our associates.

Our benefits and programs are designed around five key pillars of well-being:

Maintaining a healthy and safe lifestyle

Reaching greater balance in mind and spirit

Achieving financial goals
and dreams

Connecting with others
and community

Growing and developing a meaningful career

Supplementing our various benefit plans and programs, the Hancock Whitney Associate Assistance Fund provides assistance for associates with personal and financial needs during times of unexpected or unavoidable emergencies or disasters. The fund is managed by the Gulf Coast Community Foundation and funded by contributions from the company as well as associates, board members and partner organizations.

Rooted in the Gulf South, our company and associates are frequently impacted by hurricanes and other storms. We believe it is paramount to provide relief and recovery resources to help associates and their families remain safe and recover quickly when a storm hits. Throughout the year, especially during hurricane season, we encourage associates to prepare for inclement weather and natural disasters. We provide associates with resources to prepare and respond, including the American Red Cross, Employee Assistance Program, and Hancock Whitney Associate Assistance Fund. We periodically prompt associates to review and update contact information and emergency contact information in our HR system to ensure that they receive company communications and outreach during emergency situations.

We remain committed to providing a safe, secure environment for our associates and clients. We continuously remind associates of their critical role in maintaining a safe and secure working environment. Trainings and communications are provided to educate and reinforce our safety and security protocols, including safely accessing facilities and workspaces; safeguarding information and devices; and preventing, detecting, and reporting crimes and suspicious activities.

Associate Engagement

We strive to create a culture of engagement where each associate knows they are important, valued, and can grow. We engage our associates through various channels, including written, digital and face-to-face communications with targeted audiences ranging from all associates to core leaders, teams and one-on-ones. We encourage continuous open communication with our associates and leaders where input is welcomed through an environment of mutual respect and trust. We promote a workplace focused on gratitude and appreciation through our Value of You recognition program, Community Connection volunteer program, as well as other associate campaigns throughout the year.

We periodically conduct associate engagement surveys to measure our associates' connection and commitment to the Company and its goals. In 2022, we conducted a confidential and anonymous online associate engagement survey to measure associate engagement and collect associate feedback. During the survey, associates answered questions and provided comments to capture their feelings about the company, leadership, and their team. The survey results indicated overall associate engagement compared favorably to peer benchmark comparisons for the financial services industry and our regional footprint. Using the results of the engagement survey, leaders are able to identify strengths and opportunities for growth within their teams, as well as the overall organization, to further strengthen our culture and better meet the needs of our associates.

Board Diversity

The Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee of the board oversees a broad range of issues surrounding the composition and operation of the board. The committee and the board believe the board should have directors from diverse backgrounds with a diversified set of business skills, perspectives and experience. The committee considers whether the board, as a whole, reflects the diverse regions, the lines of business of our markets and the clients we serve. In furtherance of this consideration, the board has adopted a "Rooney Rule," pursuant to which the Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee includes, and has any search firm that it engages include, women and minority candidates in the pool from which it selects director candidates. Our board is currently composed of five women (one of whom self-identifies as African American and one of whom self-identifies as Latina) and ten men.

- We have a mandatory retirement policy for directors that prohibits reelection after their 72nd birthday.

Board Committees

The committees established by the Hancock Whitney Board of Directors include an Executive Committee, Audit Committee, Compensation Committee, Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee and Risk Committee. The board and each committee have the authority to consult with and retain independent legal, financial, or other outside advisors as each deems necessary and appropriate, without seeking approval of management.

We periodically refresh membership on our committees to provide new perspectives and insights. The diversity of our board is an important factor in providing a broad range of perspectives, and that includes leadership roles on our committees. Three of our five female directors serve as either the chair or vice-chair of one of our board committees.

Information about the individual committee responsibilities can be found in our most recent proxy statement and our investor relations website.

Additionally, we held annual review meetings with the rating agencies S&P Global and Moody's Investor Services.
- We maintain ongoing responsiveness to institutional and retail shareholders who directly contact us, and we remain committed to timely follow-up.

Risk Management

We recognize that risk management is an enterprise-wide responsibility. The board of directors oversees the company's corporate risk governance processes primarily through its committees.

BOARD RISK COMMITTEE

The Risk Committee assists the board in the assessment and management of the company's policies, procedures and practices relating to credit risk, liquidity risk, market risk, legal risk, operational risk (including cybersecurity risk), reputational risk and strategic risk. The Audit Committee reviews the company's control systems to manage and monitor financial risk with management and the internal audit group. The Compensation Committee evaluates and manages any risks posed by compensation and benefit programs and oversees DEI efforts. The Corporate Governance & Nominating Committee oversees all ESG-related activities. The Sustainability Committee, which is a management committee, develops, monitors and assesses strategies relating to the environment, social responsibility and sustainable growth.

In addition, the board and executive management have appointed a Chief Risk Officer, who is a member of management, to support the risk oversight responsibilities of the board and its committees, as well as to involve the appropriate personnel in risk management by establishing committees responsible for oversight of the many risks faced by the company. The Chief Risk Officer reports to the Risk Committee each quarter on the company's enterprise-wide risk management systems.

As part of its remit, the Risk Committee oversees operational risk, which is defined as the potential that inadequate information systems, operational problems, breaches in internal controls, fraud, or unforeseen catastrophes will result in unexpected losses. As such, operational risk considerations include climate-related risks to our operations stemming from severe weather events. The company is currently in the early stages of formally identifying and assessing climate-related risks beyond operational risks stemming from the Company's geographic footprint. As this ESG risk framework is built out, we will incorporate impact to other risk areas. We believe the governance framework that we have put in place will enable fulsome consideration of the climate risks and opportunities at Hancock Whitney as our practices and processes mature.

SUSTAINABILITY COMMITTEE

The Chief Risk Officer chairs the Sustainability Committee to provide interconnectivity between the committee and the Company's enterprise risk management (ERM) function, which is responsible for incorporating climate-related risks into the Company's risk framework. The Director of Diversity, Equity & Inclusion (DEI) serves as a member of the Sustainability Committee to champion our DEI efforts.

Compliance Governance

The Chief Compliance Officer has oversight for enterprise compliance and reports to the Chief Risk Officer. We provide quarterly reports to the Risk Committee, with an annual report to the full board on the compliance program for the enterprise.

Regulatory Authorities

We are subject to regulatory oversight by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC); Consumer Financial Protection Bureau; Federal Reserve Board of Governors; Mississippi Department of Banking and Consumer Finance; Financial Industry Regulatory Authority; and U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission.

Regulatory Engagement

- We maintain open and transparent communications with our supervisory regulators and aim to optimize opportunities for proactive engagement. We regularly communicate with the regulators and update them on the bank's activities.
- In addition to regular examinations and continuous monitoring performed by our supervisory regulators, we host frequent meetings or conference calls between the supervisory team and bank executive leadership.
- We respond in a timely manner to our supervisory regulators and remain committed to addressing all follow-up items.
- We proactively monitor the regulatory landscape to ensure awareness of any regulatory changes and impacts to the bank.

Compliance Training

We require all associates to complete compliance training annually. Examples of compliance courses include, but are not limited to, Gramm-Leach-Bliley Privacy Act, Business Continuity Overview, Ethical Workplace, ID Theft Red Flags Rule, Information Security and Workplace Security. In addition to the courses all associates are required to take, we assign associates a customized curriculum of compliance courses based on their roles to ensure a high level of knowledge of the rules and regulations that impact their areas of responsibility.

Maintaining a Culture of Ethics and Compliance

Open Communication

Our Open Communication Policy cultivates a culture of open and honest communication between managers and associates as a day-to-day business practice. Managers set the tone of the workplace by welcoming input from associates in an environment of mutual respect and trust. We believe this process helps to define any issue and work toward resolving it in an informal manner.

We encourage associates to work with their immediate managers to resolve questions, conflicts and disputes. If concerns involve the immediate manager, or if the issue has not been resolved appropriately, associates may escalate the issue to the next-level manager and ultimately Human Resources, which will investigate the matter with all parties and determine a final disposition.

Integrity in Action

Upholding the core values of Honor & Integrity, Strength & Stability and Personal Responsibility and further protecting our clients, associates, and company's financial safety and soundness, our associates are expected to conduct business in a lawful, ethical and fair manner. All associates are strongly encouraged to report ethical concerns related to matters such as accounting, internal controls, auditing, discrimination, harassment and/or violations or suspected violations of laws or regulations, the Code of Conduct, or other company policies and procedures by clients, associates, or vendors. Integrity in Action, our whistleblower policy, provides our associates and others with a confidential method of reporting illegal, unethical, or unsafe activity.

All reports are investigated by Human Resources and/or Internal Audit and monitored through final disposition. Updates are provided to the Audit Committee on a quarterly basis. A copy of our Integrity in Action Whistleblower Policy is available under Governance Documents on our website, hancockwhitney.com.

Whistleblower Hotline

Our Whistleblower Hotline is administered through a third-party provider. The independent reporting service allows individuals to make reports confidentially by telephone or online 24 hours a day, seven days a week, and allows for anonymous reports, if desired.

Information Security and Privacy

Hancock Whitney's Chief Information Security Officer (CISO) directs the company's Information Security program. The program is designed to protect the security of our computer systems, networks, software and information assets, including client data.

Led by our CISO, a team of dedicated security professionals examines risks to the company's information systems and assets, designs and implements security solutions, monitors the environment and provides immediate responses to threats.

Program Governance and Structure

Governance of the Information Security program begins with the IT Risk Governance Subcommittee, whose objective is to protect the integrity, security, safety and resiliency of corporate information systems and assets.

This management-level subcommittee meets regularly to review the development of the program, make recommendations and provide regular subcommittee reports to the Operations Committee, Capital Committee and, ultimately, the board of directors via the Risk Committee.

The Information Security program is structured by a comprehensive collection of policies, guidelines and procedures, which are periodically updated and approved by the appropriate committees. These policies, guidelines and procedures align with regulatory guidance, the ISO Code of Practice for Information Security Controls and common industry practices.

As required by Federal Financial Institutions Examination Council guidance, the CISO provides an annual report on the state of the Information Security program to the Risk Committee.

The company's Enterprise Risk Management program also has a role in governance of the Information Security program, working with Information Security management to facilitate performance of Risk and Control Self Assessments, the results of which are included in Risk Committee metrics.

Our Enterprise Risk Management program shapes our Information Security strategy and development. Teams of internal resources and independent expert cybersecurity firms perform risk assessments on an ongoing basis to identify risks and associated controls. We use the findings to identify opportunities to strengthen the program and remedy residual risks.

The company's prudential regulators, the FDIC and the Mississippi Department of Banking and Consumer Finance, regularly examine the Information Security program. Internal Audit also performs regular reviews of the program.

Commitment to Security and Confidentiality

At Hancock Whitney, we expect each associate to be responsible for the security and confidentiality of client information. We communicate this responsibility to associates upon hiring and regularly throughout their employment.

We require each associate to complete training to protect the confidentiality of client information at the time of hire and during each year of employment. Associates must successfully pass a test to demonstrate understanding of these requirements and provide acknowledgement of their responsibilities under the Information Systems Acceptable Use Policy.

We regularly provide associates with Information Security awareness training, including the recognition and appropriate handling of potential phishing emails, which can introduce malware to a company's network, result in the theft of user credentials and, ultimately, place client information at risk. Hancock Whitney employs a number of technical controls to mitigate the risk of phishing emails targeting associates. We regularly test associates to determine their susceptibility to phishing test emails. We require susceptible associates to take additional training and provide regular reports to management.

Hancock Whitney's Associate Handbook and Code of Conduct and the Code of Business Ethics for Officers and Associates contain additional guidance on the protection and privacy of client information.

Associates must also follow established procedures for the safe storage and handling and secure disposal of client information. All retired computer assets are subject to defined procedures and processes to ensure safe destruction of information contained on those devices. For paper-based information, we train all associates to dispose of paper using a secure company-wide document destruction program.

Technology Controls and Protocols

We allow only approved, company-managed devices to join the private network for access and handling of client information in electronic form. We also have a secure thin-client access solution that allows authorized users to view and work with client information while keeping that information secure within the company network. Associates may also access email, calendars, files, and other resources on our private network by use of a secure application on the associate's personal device. With use of this secure application, all information remains on the company network or in that company-managed secure application container on the personal device. We strictly prohibit associates from exposing company and client information to non-Hancock Whitney-approved devices or unauthorized parties.

Information Security Protections and Defense

Hancock Whitney protects its network and information assets with industry-proven security products and processes. Our Information Security Architecture team performs market research on potential products and tools. The team implements technology and applications to protect the security of the systems and data from the beginning of their life cycles.

Security Monitoring and Response

The Cyber Defense Center team actively monitors company networks and systems to detect suspicious or malicious events. A Managed Security Service Provider supplements our monitoring to provide 24 hours a day, seven days a week coverage. Internal investigators triage and investigate detected events. The company maintains a cybersecurity Incident Response Plan. Per the Incident Response Plan, an Incident Response team regularly performs exercises to simulate responses to cybersecurity events. Each exercise results in lessons learned and subsequent improvement of the plan. The company also keeps expert firms on retainer to assist with forensic investigation and management of any large-scale cybersecurity events that could occur.

Threat Intelligence

In addition to ongoing updates to our security tools, Hancock Whitney's Cyber Defense Center team constantly monitors threat intelligence sources to anticipate and research evolving threats, investigates their potential impact to financial services companies, examines company controls to detect and defend against those threats and proactively adjusts company defenses against those threats.

The board of directors and our executives appreciate the severity of cybersecurity-related risks and support the continuous development of and investment in the Information Security program.

Third-party Vendor Controls

As the services of third-party providers are engaged, the company utilizes a robust due diligence process prior to executing an agreement. This process is led by the Vendor Management team and includes participation of dedicated Information Security resources. Risk assessments are performed using Service Organization Controls (SOC) reports, self-attestation questionnaires and other tools. Third parties processing sensitive client data are contractually required to meet all legal and regulatory obligations to protect client data against security threats or unauthorized access. After contract executions, vendors undergo ongoing monitoring to ensure they continue to meet their security obligations.

Task Force on Climate-related Financial Disclosure

The Financial Stability Board's Task Force on Climate-related Financial Disclosure (TCFD) provides a voluntary climate-related financial risk disclosure framework that companies may use to provide consistent information to investors, lenders, insurers and other stakeholders. In this TCFD Appendix, we have aligned our reporting around the TCFD framework's four pillars: Governance, Strategy, Risk Management, and Metrics and Targets. As this is our first TCFD-aligned disclosure, our intention is to provide investors and other interested stakeholders with information regarding the current state of our climate-related efforts across the TCFD's key recommendations. We expect that our reporting across all four pillars will evolve as we further integrate climate considerations across our business.

Governance

Our Board of Directors' Role in Oversight of Climate-related Matters

Our Board of Directors is responsible for overseeing Hancock Whitney's business and affairs, including risks associated with the potential impact of climate-related matters. The Board oversees the Company's corporate risk governance processes primarily through its committees, and oversight of climate matters is delegated to our Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee (the Corporate Governance Committee), Risk Committee, and Audit Committee.

The Corporate Governance Committee advises the Board of Directors on corporate governance matters generally and is specifically tasked with overseeing the Company's strategy and initiatives regarding ESG matters. The Corporate Governance Committee receives reports from the Company's Sustainability Committee (discussed further below) at least annually, and ESG matters are regularly included on the committee's agenda.

The Board Risk Committee ensures that a comprehensive Enterprise Risk Management program exists to assist senior management in operating the Company in a rapidly changing environment, and to assist the Board in fulfilling its responsibilities with respect to oversight of the Company's risk governance framework and risk appetite. The Board Risk Committee reviews the Company's processes for identifying, assessing, monitoring, and managing the Company's primary risk exposures. As discussed under "Risk Management" below, climate-related matters have potential impacts across the spectrum of our primary risk exposures, and we are in the process of integrating climate-related matters into our enterprise risk management framework.

The Audit Committee assists the Board in fulfilling its responsibilities for oversight of the accounting and financial reporting processes and audits of the financial statements, the system of internal control, and the process for monitoring compliance with laws and regulations, including laws and regulations relating to climate-related risks and disclosures.

Our Management's Role in Assessing and Managing Climate-related Matters

Our Capital Committee (CAPCO) is composed of the most senior executives of the business and directly oversees strategic and reputational risk, as well as the Company's risk governance framework and risk appetite, with the support of its management level portfolio risk committees and the Sustainability Committee. The Company has three portfolio committees: Credit Committee, Asset/Liability Committee and Operations Committee, which are responsible for credit risk, liquidity and market risk, and operational and legal risk, respectively.

To provide support to CAPCO with respect to the Company's ESG and sustainability efforts, the Company formed a management-level Sustainability Committee in 2021 that is specifically focused on the sustainable growth of the Company.

The Sustainability Committee assists CAPCO in (a) developing strategies relating to the environment, social responsibility and sustainable growth generally (which we refer to collectively as "sustainability"), (b) developing, implementing, and monitoring sustainability initiatives and policies, (c) overseeing the Company's sustainability reports and disclosures, and (d) monitoring and assessing sustainability developments. Our Chief Risk Officer chairs the Sustainability Committee; other members include our Chief Legal Officer, Director of Diversity and Inclusion, Chief Financial Officer, Chief Operating Officer, Chief Credit Officer, Chief Human Resources Officer, and Investor Relations Manager. The Committee meets at least semiannually or more frequently as the Committee deems appropriate, and from time to time forms working groups composed of cross-departmental representatives to assist it in carrying out its responsibilities. The Sustainability Committee provides reporting to CAPCO as the Chair deems appropriate, and to the Corporate Governance Committee of the Board at least annually and at such other times as may be requested.

The Company's Chief Risk Officer chairs the Sustainability Committee to provide interconnectivity between the committee and the Company's enterprise risk management function, which is responsible for incorporating climate-related risks into the Company's risk framework. The company is currently in the early stages of formally identifying and assessing climate-related risks beyond operational risks stemming from the Company's geographic footprint. We believe the governance framework that we have put in place will enable fulsome consideration of the climate risks and opportunities at Hancock Whitney as our practices and processes mature beyond those currently described in this report.

The Disclosure Committee assists the Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer in fulfilling their responsibility to ensure financial statements and disclosures made by the Company are complete, accurate and timely filed in accordance with Securities and Exchange Commission rules and regulations, stock exchange listing requirements, generally accepted accounting principles, internal policies, and other legal or regulatory requirements. In addition to the Sustainability Committee, the Disclosure Committee reviews and approves the content of the Company's Environmental, Social Responsibility and Governance Report before publication.

Strategy

Climate-related Risks and Opportunities

Given our operational footprint within the Gulf South and Gulfport, Mississippi headquarters, our company and associates are frequently impacted by hurricanes and other storms, as well as flooding.

We are in the initial stages of examining how climate-related physical, transition and regulatory risks may impact those to whom we lend or in which we invest, both at present and as extreme weather events grow in frequency, intensity, and duration, as the effects of climate change intensify. Our intention is to integrate any findings into our business strategy over short-, medium- and long-term time horizons.

Impact of Climate-related Risks and Opportunities

With respect to our own operations, we've long been committed to service when crisis hits. We understand that our customers need reliable banking services when recovering from severe weather events, and we endeavor—when it is safe and sensible for clients and associates—to be the last to close and the first to open. Our actions taken to mitigate climate-related risks posed by hurricanes and other storms are guided by our business continuity plan. This plan outlines measures and protocols to take in preparation of, during and after climate-related weather events to ensure our critical business operations continue to function consistent with our commitment to service. In addition, we believe it is paramount to provide relief and recovery resources to help associates and their families remain safe and recover quickly when storms do occur. For example, in August 2021, approximately 25% of our associates were impacted by Hurricane Ida in some way. To assist associates in their recovery, we made a $500,000 contribution to the Hancock Whitney Associate Assistance Fund to provide relief and recovery grants for impacted associates. We also coordinated lodging, blue tarp assistance, meals and other resources to further support associates in need, totaling more than $1.6 million.

With respect to our loan portfolio, while not primarily driven by direct consideration of climate-related risks, we have significantly reduced our exposure to the energy sector through a sale of a substantial portion of our energy loan portfolio as part of a broader de-risking strategy. Energy loans constituted 1% of our total loan portfolio as of December 31, 2022. Other concentrations in our loan portfolio include commercial and residential real estate, healthcare, hospitality and shared national credits. As noted above, we are in the early stages of currently assessing the vulnerability of these portfolios to climate risk.

Based on our severe weather experience to date, storms generally prompt temporary evacuation and unplanned closures of businesses, leading to supply chain disruptions, labor constraints, and cancellation or postponement of events that foster tourism. Certain income categories, such as ATM fees and secondary mortgage market operations, can also be temporarily impacted by storm disruptions. However, our hurricane-impacted markets generally experience increased economic activity as the communities rebuild and recover from the damage. As a result, deposit levels historically have increased, primarily driven by stimulus funding and insurance proceeds.

With respect to the consideration of new opportunities, the Company has a New Product and Initiative (NPI) Policy to prudently manage and assess the risks associated with the innovation and development of new, expanded, or modified products and services offered by the Company. The policy defines what an NPI is and provides criteria to help make that determination. It also sets forth the vetting and approval process required for NPIs, including risk assessment, whether posed by climate-related risks or otherwise. Our NPI policy enables us to assess the inherent risks associated with a proposed new product and/or initiative, to identify the requirements or actions necessary to sufficiently mitigate risk to an acceptable level, and to identify subject-matter experts to be involved in the project. The NPI Risk Questionnaire is broad and covers all of the risks in the HWC Risk Hierarchy. At this time, we are determining the best methods to incorporate climate-related risks in the assessment. The results aid the Company's decision of whether to move forward with the project/initiative and provide project managers with requirements to include in the project plan.

Our Resilient Strategy

We have yet to conduct climate-related scenario analysis. However, we are working to better understand the landscape of climate transition scenarios, and have begun to review scenarios to understand at a general level the magnitude and trajectory of potential risks posed by a warming planet and how those risks may impact our business in the longer term.

Risk Management

Identifying and Assessing Climate-related Risks

Hancock Whitney's ERM function, led by our Chief Risk Officer, is responsible for overseeing the identification, assessment, measurement, monitoring, mitigation and reporting of risk.

The Company's risk philosophy is to proactively manage risks to capture opportunities and maximize shareholder value. With our Core Values ever present, we set corporate strategic objectives, establish strategies and make distinct risk/reward decisions with the utmost consideration for the strength and stability of the Company, impact to its overall aggregate risk profile, and risk appetite. The Company must balance revenue generation and profitability with the inherent risks of its business activities to ensure its efforts are not diminished through avoidable loss, both direct and indirect.

Risks are primarily identified through quarterly evaluation of our risk universe, with risks being added or removed as appropriate. Risks are categorized across the seven risk categories in our ERM Policy: Credit, Market, Liquidity, Operational, Legal, Reputational, and Strategic. The table below defines each risk category.

Risk Type	Definition
Credit	Credit risk arises from the potential that a borrower or counterparty will fail to perform on an obligation, including failures due to climate risk or related impacts.
Market	The Company's market risk exposure is derived primarily from interest rate risk embedded in its balance sheet. Interest rate risk is the exposure of an institution's financial condition—earnings or capital—to movements in interest rates.
Liquidity	Liquidity represents the ability of a financial institution to fund assets and meet obligations as they become due.
Operational	Operational risk is defined as the risk of loss resulting from inadequate or failed internal processes, people, and systems or from external events, including climate-related events and disasters.
Legal	Legal risk generally involves (i) legislative or regulatory compliance risk, i.e., the risk that the Company fails to properly implement legislative or regulatory requirements, (ii) contractual risk, i.e., we do not have the expected rights and obligations in agreements with our clients, service providers or vendors, or with other third parties, and (iii) dispute or litigation risk, i.e., the costs of defending, settling or otherwise resolving such disputes.
Reputational	Reputational risk is the potential that negative publicity regarding an institution's business practices, whether true or not, will cause a decline in the customer base, costly litigation or revenue reductions. Reputation with shareholders and associates also is an important factor of reputational risk.
Strategic	Strategic risk is the risk to current or anticipated earnings, capital or franchise or enterprise value arising from adverse business decisions, poor implementation of business decisions, or lack of responsiveness to changes in the competitive landscape of banking and financial services industries and operating environment, including changes in response to climate threats.

We utilize a Risk Rating Methodology throughout the company in order to provide business owners with a systematic way of prioritizing risks such that the most critical exposures to the business function are easily identifiable. This information allows the business to ensure appropriate activities, such as risk mitigation or resource allocation, are taken into consideration when managing its risk environment.

Managing Climate-related Risks

ENTERPRISE RISK MANAGEMENT

ERM is the Company's process to provide reasonable assurance regarding the achievement of its objectives while managing risk within its risk appetite. ERM leverages the Company's risk governance framework to provide visibility into the Company's corporate risk profile to help inform decision-making by management and the Board Risk Committee. ERM also ensures the Company's risk governance framework continues to mature with its internal and external business environment through continuous improvement. Enterprise Risk Administration oversees and governs the ERM process and is part of the second line of defense.

The Company has four ERM objectives:

- Enhance strategic thinking and planning to identify pertinent opportunities and threats
- Improve risk-adjusted decision-making
- Spread risk awareness and embed risk management practices throughout the Company
- Enhance credibility with key stakeholders—directors, shareholders, associates and regulators

OPERATIONAL RISK MANAGEMENT

Operational risk is defined as the risk of loss resulting from inadequate or failed internal processes, people, and systems or from external events.

The Company has instituted a Three Lines of Defense model that outlines the risk management roles and responsibilities among frontline business owners, independent risk management functions and independent assurance functions. The operating effectiveness of a line of defense is enhanced by the effectiveness of the respective lines' monitoring and oversight in an overlapping and interdependent relationship.

Senior management is responsible for supporting each of the lines of defense and including appropriate leaders from the independent risk and assurance functions in significant organizational changes or developments. Independent risk management and assurance functions will coordinate with each other, work closely with business owners, and communicate timely with the committee structure to help ensure an effective and efficient risk governance framework.

RISK APPETITE STATEMENT

The Board of Directors of the Company and senior management have approved a Risk Appetite Statement to reflect the Company's core business mission, principles, values, and strategic vision, all working in concert to help achieve our corporate purpose of creating opportunities for communities and people. Risk taking is a fundamental characteristic of providing financial services and is inherent in every transaction we undertake. The risk appetite statement is a comprehensive enterprise document that helps establish the tone for the Company's risk-taking activities.

Integration of Processes to Identify, Assess and Manage Climate-related Risks

Our ERM function, in partnership with our business and support lines, is responsible for executing on plans throughout the year to address or mitigate our key, identified risks across our risk categories. As noted previously, we currently view climate as a transversal risk impacting these seven risk categories. As we build capabilities to model and measure the potential impact of climate risk on our business, our intention is that we develop quantitative approaches in the future to evaluate and assess the potential ranges of risk severity posed by climate-related risk.

The Company utilizes a Risk and Control Self-Assessment (RCSA) process, which is facilitated by Operational Risk Management and conducted by the Operating Unit management team. The RCSA process enables the Company to:

- Identify those operational risks that may impede the Operating Unit's ability to achieve strategic objectives and initiatives
- Determine existence of horizontal and vertical interdependencies
- Facilitate development of effective risk management practices
- Enhance opportunities for improved risk mitigation activities (i.e., proactively identifying potential audit, compliance, and regulatory findings)
- Improve identification of potential operational loss events
- Maximize risk/reward decision-making processes

RCSA provides a systematic means of identifying and assessing operational risks and the effectiveness of controls. The core characteristics of the RCSA consist of:

- The identification of risks that could threaten the achievement of objectives, and the activities and processes affected by the different risks identified;
- Identifying the controls in place intended to manage the risks or prevent the risks from materializing;
- Determining where responsibility for performing those controls lies; and
- An assessment of the effectiveness of the controls and the level of residual risk.

Assess and Quantify Key Risks

The RCSA assesses operational risk exposure. The expected outcome is that residual risk will be lower than inherent risk, depending upon the extent and effectiveness of the controls in place. The Company's approach is to use the RCSA to assess the level of its current residual operational risk exposure as it stands given the controls in place. This approach recognizes that an understanding of the inherent risk profile is essential in order to identify improvements required for existing controls to manage the risk exposure to the desired level.

Metrics/Targets

Assessment of Metrics of Climate-related Risks and Opportunities

We embrace our responsibility to be a good steward of our natural resources. In terms of operational metrics, we have established a system for analyzing energy usage in our real estate portfolio and have established a centralized energy management system for our offices. We also track paper usage and recycling efforts, and are mindful of considering the environmental impact of building and construction as well as furniture, fixtures and equipment decisions. Details regarding these initiatives and metrics related thereto can be found under the Environmental Responsibility section of this ESG Report.

As for broader climate-related risk exposures and opportunities stemming from our business operations, we are currently evaluating what metrics can help us assess those risks and opportunities, particularly within our lending and investment portfolios.

Company goals are aspirational and not guarantees or promises that all goals will be met. Statistics and metrics included in this document are estimates and may be based on assumptions or developing standards. Content available at websites and in documents referenced in this document are not incorporated herein and are not part of this document.

Scope 1 and Scope 2

We began measuring our operational greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions (Scopes 1 and 2) for the 2021 calendar year. A summary of those emissions is provided here.

Targets to Manage Climate-related Risks and Opportunities

As the GHG emissions data at right represent our inaugural effort to collect such information, we have not established any targets to date. As we continue to assess the risks and opportunities that climate change presents to our business—directly or indirectly—we may establish targets in the future.

In the index on the following page, we are reporting certain SASB metrics that are relevant to our commercial banking activities, which constitute our principal line of business.

The chart at right includes a summary of Hancock Whitney's Scope 1 and Scope 2 (location- and market-based) emissions for the 2021 and 2022 calendar years. As recommended by the GHG Protocol, Scope 2 emissions were calculated utilizing both location-based and market-based methodologies. As defined by the World Resources Institute/World Business Council for Sustainable Development (WRI/WBCSD), the location-based method is based on grid average emissions, while the market-based method reflects emissions based on energy procurement purchasing decisions. The GHG emissions summary was calculated based on the data available, using a methodology consistent with the WRI/WBCSD GHG Protocol Corporate Accounting and Reporting Standard for emissions calculations.

GHG Emissions	Units	2021	2022
Scope 1	CO ₂ -e (metric tons)	649	617
Scope 2 (location-based)	CO ₂ -e (metric tons)	14,434	15,057
Scope 2 (market-based)	CO ₂ -e (metric tons)	14,727	15,187
Total Scope 1 and Location-based Scope 2	CO ₂ -e (metric tons)	15,083	15,674
Total Scope 1 and Market-based Scope 2	CO ₂ -e (metric tons)	15,376	15,805

To help reduce our greenhouse gas emissions, HWC is committed to installing electric vehicle charging stations throughout our footprint.

In the index below, we are reporting certain SASB metrics that are relevant to our commercial banking activities, which constitute our principal line of business. Where information relating to a specific metric was not readily available, we have, to the extent practicable, referenced existing disclosures that we believe are most responsive to that metric. Unless otherwise noted, all data and descriptions are as of or for the year ended December 31, 2022. For additional information about our financial performance, please refer to our quarterly earnings materials as well as our quarterly and annual reports on Form 10-Q and Form 10-K, respectively. Certain information may not be disclosed within the index below if it is not considered material or if it is privileged or confidential, could cause a competitive disadvantage to our business if publicly disseminated, or is not currently collected in a manner wholly correlative with the related SASB metric.
